Kwame Brown
Former District of Columbia Council Chairman

The Washington Development Industry Council Presents

A lecture series on Business and Economic Development

Dear Colleague:

This letter is an invitation for you to join me in welcoming Kwame R. Brown, former Chair of the District of Columbia, as part of the Washington Development Industry Council's ("WDIC") Lecture Series on Business and Economic Development. Mr. Brown will discuss the impact that the District of Columbia Council's economic development legislation has had on the City's Certified Business Enterprises ("CBEs") over the past 7 years.

As a native of Washington, former Chairman Brown has long been an active proponent of making sure that government remains open, transparent and responsive to the needs of residents. He has been a longtime friend of CBEs, and continues to respond to the needs of the community by focusing on improving the City's efforts to stimulate the economy.

Largely due to the hard work of citizens like former Chairman Brown, Washington, DC remains poised to not only continue to experience growth and economic expansion, but to do so by ensuring that CBE's have the access needed to participate in that growth. Please join me, along with the Washington Development Industry Council, in welcoming this dynamic speaker by attending WDIC's breakfast and lecture on:
